Functions and responsibility of the Research Advisory Committee are:

The main responsibility of a research ethics committee is to protect potential participants in the research, but it must also consider the potential risks and benefits for the community in which the research will be carried out. Its ultimate goal is to promote high ethical standards in research and:

- To formulate policy on all research related matters which impact on the strategic objectives of the University.
- To consider and make recommendations on matters of policy relating to research including matters referred to it by Academic Council and other University committees.
- The REC will provide guidance on Departmental processes and policies and facilitates the independent review of the ethics of a piece of proposed research work referred by Departmental Committees.
- The REC will be the part of the University process of ethics and integrity review for research and will provide advice to Departments, facilitate an ethical review of proposed research work escalated from a Department and investigate any potential breach of Departmental ethics policy when requested.
- Any other activity as suggested by Hon'ble Vice Chancellor.
